ACG-CIS SPECIAL REPORT - AIRPORT SECURITY

CANADIAN AIRPORT SECURITY STILL LEAVES PASSENGERS AT RISK

With the 2010 winter Olympics scheduled to begin less than two months from this date, the gateway to Vancouver appears to have a huge security gap.

VANCOUVER BC: ACG-CIS: 09-12-15: ACG-CIS:

A troubling incident occurred at Vancouver International Airport (YVR) that should serve as a wakeup call for those charged with the safety and security of the travelling public. As reported by CBC News and others a valet driver reversed an SUV into a departures area of Vancouver International Airport Tuesday (December 15) morning.

A vehicle moving at 15 MPH covers 22 feet per second so it does not take a long to be on the wrong side of the building. The security implications of this are enormous. Post 9/11 it should be impossible to drive a vehicle into an airport. What if this SUV this was packed with explosives? What is even more disturbing is the fact that this airport is getting ready to host the world during the 2010 Winter Olympics. This driver may have done officials a big favour by exposing a MAJOR weakness in airport security.
